

Tracy Wong - Learning Tracks

Thank you for purchasing these part-dominant learning tracks! In this package, you will receive part-dominant tracks as well as the full mixed tracks. Please read on to learn how to use these tracks for optimum results.

These audio tracks work best with earphones / headphones on. They are designed for the benefit of distant / isolated singing in your personal spaces, and to encourage independent learning. Here's why:

- Part-dominant tracks:
 - highlights a specific voice part while keeping the other parts softer
 - pans / “moves” the specific voice part to the listener’s LEFT ear, while panning / “moving” everyone else to the listener’s RIGHT ear
 - eg. Alto rehearsal tracks: Alto in LEFT ear, everyone else in RIGHT ear
- if you need to learn / practice your own line: keep only the LEFT earbud in, remove the RIGHT earbud
- if you need to learn / practice your own line while having the support of other parts: BOTH earbuds in
- if you are feeling confident and want to sing with the other parts without the additional aid for your own part: remove LEFT earbud, keep only the RIGHT earbud in

All the soprano and alto parts are sung by me, and (should there be any tenor / bass tracks), the tenor and bass parts are sung by a couple of my wonderful Malaysian friends... all of whom are familiar with the language and style.

Important licensing & purchasing terms: The purchase of this resource allows your choral organization to distribute it to your singers and staff for their own learning at any time, but not to be duplicated and/or shared beyond the organization. It is important to note that a portion of the payment received will be put aside to support my fellow Malaysian choral educators and artists (poets, choreographers, folk musicians) that I collaborate and/or consult with for current and future Malaysian folk-inspired choral initiatives!

I hope you enjoy singing along (#ChoirKaraoke) with me, and thank you so much for exploring my music!
